WSP USA INSPECTION SERVICES DISASTER AWARENESS REPORT

September 9, 2025

Tropical Activity

Central Pacific – Tropical Storm Kiko

- Kiko was downgraded from a hurricane to a tropical storm late Monday night with maximum sustained winds of 60 mph.
- Currently located less than 400 miles to the northeast of Hilo, Hawaii, and about 375 miles east of Honolulu.
- Moving off to the west-northwest at 14 mph, and that motion is expected to continue for the next few days while passing to the north of the main Hawaiian Islands.
- There are currently no coastal or flood-related watches or warnings active across any of the Hawaiian Islands.

Coastal Flooding

Southeast

- A sprawling, stationary front has parked itself just off the Eastern Seaboard, which will bring days of dry conditions for most of the East Coast.
- However, this same weather pattern will bring a flood threat to low-lying coastal communities and days of dangerous beach conditions.
- An area of strong high pressure over New England will bring strong winds from the northeast pushing water onto and over East Coast beaches.
- Charleston, South Carolina's harbor will likely see the worst impacts.
- The NWS has issued Coastal Flood Advisories for minor and moderate flooding from northern Florida through coastal North Carolina lasting into Wednesday morning.
