WSP USA INSPECTION SERVICES DISASTER AWARENESS REPORT

December 2, 2024

Great Lakes Snowstorm

- A long-duration and historic lake-effect snowstorm that dumped 3-5 feet of snow in Great Lakes communities from Michigan to New York continues to blast the region and impact travel.
- Epic snowfall totals have been reported across the region, including in communities downwind of Lake Erie in northwestern Pennsylvania and western New York, and downwind of Lake Ontario in northern New York.
- Snow falling between 1 and 4 inches per hour, accumulations overwhelmed efforts to keep roads clear under the heaviest bands.
- Both New York Gov. Kathy Hochul and Pennsylvania Gov. Josh Shapiro declared states of emergency due to the ongoing lake-effect snowstorm.
- Winter weather alerts remain in effect across the region, including Lake-Effect Snow Warnings from Cleveland to southwestern New York that will remain in effect until at least Tuesday morning.
- Winter Weather Advisories also remain in effect for parts of central New York, including the Syracuse metro.
- The FOX Forecast Center said the primary band of snow coming off Lake Erie will sink back to the south on Monday.
- The snow band is expected to remain close to the southern lakeshore temporarily, but a shift to northwesterly winds will likely push it farther inland.
- Some areas could pick up an additional foot or more of snow, with the highest totals likely occurring from parts of Erie County, Pennsylvania, through Chautauqua and Cattaraugus counties in southwestern New York.
