WSP USA INSPECTION SERVICES DISASTER AWARENESS REPORT

November 13, 2024

Tropical Activity Atlantic – Invest 99L

- Invest 99L is becoming better organized and remains on track to develop into a tropical depression within days.
- "The steering currents across the Caribbean are very light, so eventually, 'likely-Sara' is forecast to meander in the western Caribbean near Central America through the weekend," FOX Weather Hurricane Specialist Bryan Norcross said.
- Computer forecast models indicate that the system could strengthen into a tropical storm as it hangs out in the area and takes advantage of the warm waters and low wind shear.
- Those conditions could allow future Sara to become a hurricane — possibly a strong one.
- The National Hurricane Center (NHC) said Wednesday that the disturbance continues to produce an area of showers and thunderstorms associated with a broad area of low pressure.
- The NHC is giving the system an 80% chance of developing over the next two days and near-certain odds of developing within the next week.
- "Everyone from the Big Bend to South Florida and the Keys should stay up to date on the latest forecasts," FOX Weather Hurricane Specialist Bryan Norcross said.
- "Nothing will happen fast, but the computer forecasts are in unusually high agreement on the threat, so attention is required. On the current schedule, 'likely-Sara' would be in the vicinity of the Florida coast about Wednesday of next week."
