Wildfire Activity

Arizona – Spur Fire

- A growing wildfire that sparked Thursday afternoon in Bagdad, Arizona -- a mining town about 90 minutes west of Prescott -- has destroyed at least 25 structures, including homes, and forced the evacuation of the entire town.
- Arizona State Forestry says forward progress has been stopped on the Spur Fire that has burned about 150 acres and is 25% contained as of Friday morning. It is being fueled by dry grass and brush.
- Arizona State Forestry says 13 primary structures and more than 10 secondary structures have been confirmed destroyed.
- Power has been cut in the town as lines were de-energized for safety purposes, according to the Arizona State Forestry Department.
