April 28, 2025

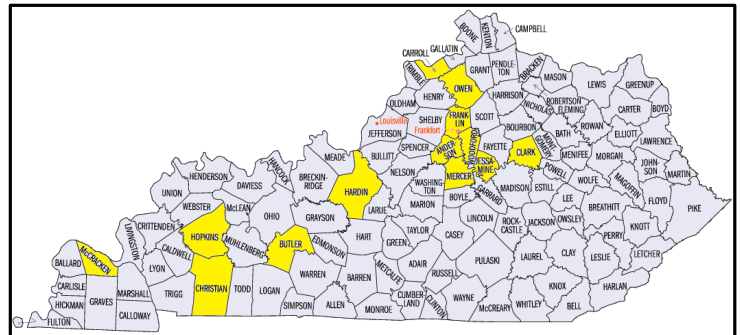

Severe Weather Outlook Central U.S.

- Preparations are underway in Minneapolis and other communities across the Upper Midwest ahead of a likely severe weather outbreak on Monday.
- Powerful thunderstorms capable of producing very large hail, damaging wind gusts and strong tornadoes could blast the region.
- The City of Minneapolis sent out a warning on Sunday urging residents to prepare for the incoming extreme weather, and officials in the city of Edina echoed that warning.
- More than 45 million people from the U.S.-Mexico border in Texas to the U.S.-Canada border in the Upper Midwest will be at risk.
- The heightened risk zone includes cities like Minneapolis, St. Paul, Rochester, Bloomington and Plymouth in Minnesota and Eau Claire and La Crosse in Wisconsin.
- Threats of very large hail over 2 inches and destructive wind gusts along with strong tornadoes (EF-2 or higher) are also possible, especially across portions of Minnesota, Iowa and Wisconsin.

Disaster Declaration Activity DR 4864 – Kentucky

- On April 25th, President Donald Trump approved Governor Andy Beshear's request for a major disaster declaration for Kentucky in response to the devastating April floods.
- Individual Assistance was approved for Kentuckians for the following 13 counties: Anderson, Butler, Carroll, Christian, Clark, Franklin, Hardin, Hopkins, Jessamine, McCracken, Mercer, Owen and Woodford counties that were affected by the most recent flooding.
- The Governor will request that additional counties be added to the declaration through an amendment once ongoing assessments are complete.
- "In total, families in 16 counties were deemed eligible for individual assistance, and 68 counties for public assistance. As of April 21st, FEMA has approved, for the February flooding, $36 million to assist more than 6,000 Kentucky households under the individual and households program," said Governor Beshear.
