Wildfire Activity

Arizona

- Two large wildfires driven by extreme fire conditions in central Arizona have consumed more than 140 square miles and forced several communities to evacuate.
- The Gila County Sheriff's Office ordered people living in homes west of Miami, Arizona, to evacuate at about 6:15 p.m. Sunday as the Telegraph Fire neared the town, which is about 70 miles east of Phoenix.
- Earlier Sunday, the Pinal County Sheriff's Office ordered residents of nearby Top-of-the-World, Arizona, to leave their homes because of the fire. Residents of Superior, Arizona, were told to be ready to evacuate at a moment's notice.
- The Telegraph Fire, which began Friday, has burned more than 64 square miles, according to Inciweb. It was threatening more than 150 homes. The cause is being investigated.
- About 25 miles to the east, the Mescal Fire quickly grew from 12 square miles to more than 77 square miles on Sunday, driven by gusty winds.
- Residents of Coyote Flats, Soda Canyon and those living on the east side of State Route 77 in El Capitan were ordered to leave their homes, according to Inciweb.
- The area where the fires are burning is experiencing exceptional drought, according to the U.S. Drought Monitor.
